Do you really believe that our beautiful children are growing up to become progressively unhealthy and obese because they are lazy over-eaters? Or are you open to the possibility that there might be more to the story? Do you think that what they are being taught about how to stay lean and healthy might be incomplete and perhaps even misleading? We are told that managing weight, shape and health is a matter of eating less and exercising more. But it isn’t that simple. Please join us and learn about the real solutions. Our children’s future depends on it.
